About This Game

Hate Free Heroes is a modern day role playing game that takes the player into the role of an H.F.H agent and researcher dedicated to decreasing the rise of "Aggromites" in the city.

Aggromites/Aggromite (definition) [ag-roh-myht] [noun]: A mischievous entity that influence a person's aggression levels through the "dream world" or altered reality.

Join the H.F.H agency, complete major missions and research missions to help the agency discover the reason behind the growing rise in "Aggro". Journey through the city of Newsport to find faithful agents that will join your cause as you begin to unravel the mystery behind the "Aggromite" influx.

Your Main Character:

Your main character is known as "The Professor", a former doctor and scientist now Meta Physician and researcher for the H.F.H. The Professor is rumored to be the one who discovered the existence of an altered reality which the agency's research is now currently based on. He decided to leave his former professions in order to help discover the source of the growing rise in "Aggro" within the "dream world".

Your Mission:

As a new agent to the agency, your mission will be to discover the source of the growing rise in "Aggro" within the city. This journey will take you within the heart of Newport as you explore different locations and deal with diverse situations. As you engage the "Aggromites" in each location, you not only help reduce the "Aggro" in the city, you also help the agency's research in discovering the source of the city's "Aggro" influx.

Your Team:

As you complete major missions, you will assemble a team of loyal agents. Each one of your team members have unique skills and abilities that will help you engage "Aggromites" in the dream world. Each one of your team members also has a history and personality unique to the team as well.

Very good game.. Difficult racing game that has you hovering at high speeds on a perpetual space track in a colorful dreamlike world, You can unlock different vehicles and holding down turbo puts you in rapid mode with bonus points while a trippy trail follows your ship around! Features multiple difficulty levels, leaderboards, and amazing music that flows with the game perfectly.

+ Challenging, Awesome music! Tight controls, soothing visuals.. Overall an amazing game. The main story is very good better than most other MMOs i've played, the side quests feel significant, with the funniest interactions coming from them. (Everything is voice acted which is amazing)

The Dungeons can be challenging on Veteran (DLC ones) and Trials are challenging and a fun experience\challange to overcome.

The best part must be the PvP aspect, Cyrodil is simply amazing, massive open zone where the 3 factions clash against one another, being able to invade keeps using siege weaponry, being able to destroy walls or ramm through a keep door is an amazing experience.

I very much recommend it. it's the kind of game you can play for a very long time and never really grow tired of it.. My review:

This game is one of the best horror games I've played. It has different mechanics. It has different monsters including a Yeti. I highly recommend this game if your a horror game lover. Its as equally as good as Outlast.

Although, I have been having problems with it. After playing 20 mintues (maybe 30) the game starts to freeze up my computer. Plus, after a few adempts of playing one of the tapes, my game crashes.

These are just bugs I am experiencing.

I am playing this on a Windows 10 computer.

Other than those bugs I mentioned, the game is great. I highly recommend it.. OuR MF PRAYERS HAVE BEEN ANSWERED ZEEBRUH LUSUS IS A FU<KING ZEEBRA HAHA YES now all we need is for him to be punched in the face and all the possible prayers will be answered polypa is lit too. A short but varied soundtrack, sometimes touching, sometimes brooding...but never boring. For the very short time that it plays.

Did I mention that it's short? Just like the game it's derived from, oddly enough. But they're also cheap, and even more so in sales; so the merely curious might be best advised to wait 'til both are discounted, before taking the plunge.

Verdict: 8/10.

Cheers!\). Tough bugger of a game, at times, but surmounting that challenge is definately part of the enjoyment of the game.

Another great time management\strategy game to play.

As with the original, you have to gather enough resources to rebuild The Wall. This one features a caravan where you can store items for use in the next level. That has its pros and cons, There is also a store where you can buy upgrades for your various buildings. I was pleasantly surprised they added such new features in only the 2nd installment of the game.

I tried to fill the caravan before I dropped down to 2 stars. It was challenging but not too much. The graphics are beautiful. Some levels have an artifact that need to be collected. You learn a little bit about the artifacts so that's a plus.

For the cons:

There were a few times where my laptop died or I had to restart the level. The goodies from the caravan were gone. You don't want to start a level with no resources. >.< 3 stars is still doable though.

The bonus mini-game is a pain. You have to click on all of the nomads that are invading your camp. It is nothing more than a CLICKFEST. Carpal tunnel nightmare. Absolutely, hated it. The mini-game usually pops up during the middle of a level.

For as great a game as this is, they should have come up with a better mini-game or better yet a SKIP option.

I still love the game despite the mini-game and I do recommend it.. Great puzzle. When I started to play I thought: "What do I supposed to do here?", "WTF?!". But then I realized what is the target, how to solve it. This game is makes you to use natural powers to spread plants onto selected points. You can combine them to create specific effects.. I usually don't write reviews, but this game is fantastic! This quickly became one of my favourite VR games. I absolutly love having the scabbard. Unsheathing the sword feels really nice, but putting it back isn't as satisfying. It takes a few clicks of the trigger to get it to go in sometimes. I would also love to see an option for running in the direction the hands are facing insted of the head, so you're able to look around while running. The story is interesting and the ending gets me really excited for whats next! I really hope the next part takes place in a city! Seeing a game like this in present day gets me really excited! I really want to be able to run up a building! I definitely recommend this game!. This game was just being obtuse, making you wander around and setting you back to the start, also the "epic trolling" was really droll. Great game !

All the complexity of Zelda's puzzles and exploration, with a nice touch of humor.

Quite hard to complete 100% (I finally forfeited close to the end, it's frustrating)

Anyway, quite a lot of hours of fun, I recommend for all the Zelda lovers !. Easily dismissed as a 2D-Portal copycat (funfact: it sorta is, but bear with me), and though lacking in many aspects, it might still be sort of a fun game.

Yes, it has the same mechanics as Portal, and yes, it is 2D, but it is not only that. You have the space-wrapping portal, but also the

- rotation portal which changes the direction of the gravity
- shrinking\growing portal
- time-wrapping portal

The combination these different portals give raise to a myriad of possibilities for endless headache. Whenever you face a new puzzle, however, you might still be unable to solve it: you might need to revisit that puzzle in the future. For this reason, the game gives you the choice of spending some "power orbs" in order to reveal if you can solve a specific puzzle or not.

Which then brings the cons of the game. The map is huge and let me tell you, not fun to navigate at all. Curisouly enough, the game is rather short: I have the feeling that if the puzzles would be presented linearly in their solveable sequence, this game would have been even shorter. Also I felt like there could be more puzzles combining the portals, and the ending felt "lazy". Also, this game screams for a little bit of a story in a comic\sarcastic tone, but there is nothing, be warned.

The puzzles are solid, enjoyable and not overly frustrating but also nothing ingenious. Achievements are fine, except for "That's the way to do it" which cannot be obtained in Linux. If you don't support the achievement in a supported platform, please, remove the achievement, that didn't even need to be said. Otherwise the game gave me no headache in Linux.

So as a puzzle game, this is a good (short) game. It could have been more, but that's all that it is. It might be enough.. Well executed. Not sure I fully understood it but if you like arty stuff then join me in supporting Yo-Yolin and buy it! A nice feast for the senses :-). Great game, great Gameplay. Better than the flash version, and a great timewaster.. Crashing, Saving loop, stuck in combat, etc
